

WORST. SONG. EVER.

Calling all music lovers! And haters.

It's time once again for our annual, weekend-before-Thanksgiving, just-for-fun 'competition' that's open to performers of all styles, levels, & abilities: from musicians, to hobbyists, to hacks! If you can carry a tune, strum a few chords, or better—or worse—then THIS EVENT'S FOR YOU!

There's been some bad music on the radio over the decades... Wives and Lovers? Escape (The Pina Colada Song)?? Beer with Jesus???

Choose a popular song that you personally believe to be one of the worst songs ever written, and practice it in your own style. The idea is not to play a song badly, but to play a bad song well. Or weirdly. Whatever.

Then on Saturday November 21 @ 7:00pm, you'll perform it live at the Barre Opera House. PRACTICE, REHEARSE, & TAKE YOUR BEST SHOT at the worst material, because the audience will be voting & bestowing trophies for 1st, 2nd, & 3rd. You might score if you make an attempt to look & sound like the original artist, or if you try transforming a bad song through your own unique musicianship into something kind of good, or even if you just play it like you hate it! Choose source material written in earnest, but interpret it however YOU like...or hate.

What to do	What NOT to do
<ul style="list-style-type: none">- SIGNUP. IN. ADVANCE.—it ain't open-mic night!- Cover a WELL. KNOWN. SONG. Practice!	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- No novelty songs: NOT. THE. POINT.- No comedy songs: NOT. THE. POINT.- No karaoke.- No song parodies. (Don't rewrite the already bad lyrics.)- No original compositions.

*"Turn 'em on! Turn 'em on!

When all hope is gone...
BAD SONGS say so much!"*
